

Otto Simonsson

Dr Otto Simonsson is a postdoctoral researcher at Karolinska Institutet's Department of Neurobiology, Care Sciences and Society, where he conducts experimental and epidemiological research on meditation and psychedelics. He has a longstanding interest in the potential risks associated with naturalistic psychedelic use, especially among vulnerable populations such as those with a genetic vulnerability to schizophrenia or bipolar I disorder.