

Dr. Ramón Bataller

Dr. Ramón Bataller, MD, PhD, is the Chief of Hepatology at Hospital Clínic de Barcelona and an expert in alcohol-related liver disease. He earned his medical degree from the University of Valencia and completed his residency and PhD at the University of Barcelona. After a research fellowship at UNC-Chapel Hill, he led hepatology programs at the University of Pittsburgh before returning to Barcelona in 2022. His research focuses on liver fibrosis alcohol-associated hepatitis, and he has led the international consortia to advance understanding and treatment of these conditions