

Lauren Haber Jonas

Lauren Haber Jonas is the Head of Youth Well-Being and Families at OpenAI, where she leads initiatives in teen safety, youth well-being, family products, and partnerships with organizations like Mattel and Common Sense Media to responsibly shape AI for younger users. She has spent nearly a decade working in the youth well-being space, previously leading youth well-being efforts at Meta before joining OpenAI. Prior to her work at Meta, Lauren was a founder and entrepreneur focused on building impactful products and communities. She is also an active parent to three kids under six, balancing her professional mission with a busy family life.